Seal Stride Challenge

Take on the Seal Stride Challenge!

With Grey Seal Pupping Season underway, undertake a run or walk to raise much-needed funds to cover operating expenses this winter at SRI's Seal Rescue Centre!

Last year our target was 117km, one kilometre for every seal rescued in 2019. For 2020 the number of seals rescued skyrocketed up to a record-breaking 170, so we're inviting our supporters to set their own target! You can go all the way with a 170km goal, or you can set a more modest goal or timeline to suit you best.

It's a great excuse to get outdoors while helping SRI continue to meet increased demands for our services! How far will you go this year to help save seals?

STORY

I am pledging to walk or run 170km over the next four weeks, a kilometre for every seal rescued last year!

I am taking on this challenge in an effort to raise much-needed funds to cover operating expenses this winter at SRI's Seal Rescue Centre!

Seal Rescue Ireland (SRI) is a charity organisation that works around the clock to rescue, rehabilitate and release native seals found sick, injured or orphaned from across the coast of Ireland. As the only seal rescue centre within the Republic of Ireland, they respond to reports nationwide and aim to rehabilitate the pups back to full health so that they can be returned to the wild. As well as caring for these precious pups they also work tirelessly in public engagement, education and various proactive conservation efforts.

This is where you can help! I hope that in taking on this challenge, I will be able to raise funds to help SRI continue their life saving during their busiest time of year! All support, big or small, makes a difference!
